

akasavana support kula

-  everyone
-  my sangha (15)
-  projects | groups
-  profile & posts
-  join us
-  giving
-  coming soon...

+ add something

edit group | add members | edit members | get help

home | latest | team posts | members | events | blogs | quotes | talks | pictures | video | resources

Welcome to Akasavana Support Kula

a group from akashavana women's buddhist retreat centre

Hi, I'm Dhammarati, Chair of the Seattle Buddhist Center. This is an example of a blurb post: it might need its own content type, I suppose and be length-limited to fit. Picture? The home page for Projects would feature just this and should be posted by the Chair. It's simple and uncomplicated. Users would have three main ways to connect - by following on our site (so you get posts from the project in your 'my sangha' feed), via the project's own site and by viewing the project's own program. I'd like to see the latter published as a pdf, preferably embedded from Issuu so it opens in full-screen immediately. Later programs might become interactive content types (calendar-like, bookable events, etc.).

introduction | highlights

10/13: Beethoven - Heroic Inspiration led by Sravaniya

11/13: Introduction to Buddhism
led by Narottama

11/17: Introduction to Meditation
led by Suddhayu

11/18: Heroines and Dakinis: Women's Practice Morning
led by Viriyalila

